

Castle Black is the only thing standing between the white walkers and the seven kingdoms. Don't underestimate northern bastards. A tad your father's name will be hard. Making your own will be harder.